All former workings were with a dry crusher mill and nothing less than $14 ore was profitable. Under the management of Charles Gracey, the new superintendent, the mill has been aftered, converted into a wet crusher and ore can be worked at an expense of $5 a ton. Thus $7 ore yields a good profit and the company has ungrade exposed in its mines. This means years of steady work.

At present only about twenty men Mr. Geo. Nesbitt of DeLamar is in are employed at the mines and this force will not be increased until the heat moderates and permits supplies to be brought in from Kingman, and cheery toot of the whistle at the the present railroad shipping point, without undue expense.
